The Nordica fortune must be large. It was published as a fact in 1909 that she had made $125,000 during that season alone. Much of her money went toward realizing her dream of "a Beyrenth in America." She bought a large tract of land along the Hudson near Ossining, and, with great enthusiasm, sketched plans for a great mustcal institute. It was said a million dollars was back of the scheme, but it was never brought to full realization.

CONSISTORY AGAIN

[BX-ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome, May 11.—From the highest vatical sources it was today learned that Pope Plus has postponed until the latter part of May the calling of a consistory in order to permit the attendance of the three American princes of the church, Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Farley and Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Farley and Cardinal G'Conneil. The consistory was to have been held at Eastern and its postponement at that time caused no little comment as there are now sixteen vacancies in the socred college and the immediate creation of new cardinals is deemed most urgent.

Pope Pius deference to the wishes. Pope Pius deference to the wishes. Powever, of the three American cardinals was influenced, it is stated, also largely by his own desire to have them, present at the consistory. The latter were obliged to come to Rome this year to make their "ad limina" visits to the uope and having arranged to do this in May, Pope Pius decided that a month's postponement of the consistory should take place for their benefit. The presence of the three American princes together with the large number of cardinals to be created is expected to give the consistory almost the same importance and interest as attached to that of 1911 when Cardinals Farley, Falconio and O'Connell were elevated to the purple.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND VAST CROWD PAY TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN MARINES

IMPRESSIVE CORTEGE

Thousands See Funeral Procession in New York City This Morning and Attend Ceremonies.

New York, N. Y. May 11.—President Wilson arrived in New York today at 7:30 from Washington, to do honor to the heroes of Vera Cruz. He came from the Pennsylvania station. From there he went to the home of his friend, Colonel Edward House of New York.

The dead from Vera Cruz were landed on American soil today. City, state and nation paid their tribute.

Two hours before the city was astir, seventeen draped comins were removed from the boat of the cruiser Montana and placed on caissons on the piaza in Battery. Park, Few witnesed the ceremony, for the sun was but half risgn, but later thousands lined the streets to watch the procession wind its way to the Navy Yard. There has not been such a spontaneous demonstration, since the Dewey Paradé. That, however, was, a noisy tribute to a returning dead.

the a levelent one to the returning dead.

The weather for the occasion could not have been better. The sky was cloudless, and there was just enough breeze to stir the thousands of flags which fluttered at half mast.

Long before nine, silent thousands began going towards lower Manhattan. Others lined the streets about the City Hall where the procession was to halt briefly. Still others lined the approaches to Manhattah Bridge. Finally a great throng gathered at the Navy Yard where eulogies were to be heard. Many of the spectators wore little bows of black, while others had bands of black on their sleeves.

An Unparalleted Scene.

Never had the Battery witnessed such a scene as was before them.

Almost noiselessly tugs nosed up to the pier with a precision most pronounced and the seventeen dead were landed and grouped. The blue-iackets who were koing to harch immediately began to assemble. The men from the Tergs came from the navy vard. from which their ship was to sail laler in the day. The men from the Wyoming came ashore in their own host. It was the Wyoming which conveyed the funeral ship into the harbor yesterday.

The cortege began to move at nine o'clock Six bands were playing a funeral march.

The crowd steed with bare head: Through lower Broadway past bid Trinity church and into the city hall the procession based. Garbered in the city were perhaps ten thousand spectators. From the city hall the route law across Manhattan bridge to Brooklyn bridge and the navy wards, where the ceremonies were stupple and brief. After a kynn by the bettleship hand an invocation by Chaplain William Passard of Arnapolis, came President. Wilson's address. This was followed by a prayer by Farther John Sidwick chaplein of the Maine. Three volleys were fired by a detachment of marines from the Texas and a "tap" by a luminar completed the program.

Vagrants Given Torms Under Commitment Law-Adjourn Case of Alleged Wife Deserter.

mitment Law—Adjourn Case of Aileged Wife Deserter.

Five Saturday night drunks were arraigned before Judge Maxfield this morning and all plead guilty to either the charge of vagrancy or being drunk and disorderly. Four of the men were transients or as the police term them, members of the L.W. W. Won't Work' association.

Fred Sherman when brought before the bar entered a pica of not guilty and Judge Maxfield made preparations to hold his examination on the fourteenth. An hour latter Sherman experienced a change of mind asked to be allowed to change his plea as he thought he was liable to the penitentiary for first offense drunkenness, When enlightened on the law Sherman entered a plea of guilty and was given thirty days. Complaint had been made against him that he had been made against him that he had been made against him that he had been sleeping in a tobacco shed near the sugar beet factory and had been loafing on the street corners.

John Murphy, Dan Cochrane of Chicago plead guilty to the charge of vagrancy and drunkenness and were given fiteen day sentences. Joseph McCaulley, of Montreal, a type of the French-Canadian lumber-jack, plead guilty to the charges of vagrancy after the law was explained to him and was given ten days. McCaulley was at first charged with drunkeness and vagrancy but the lumberjack denied being drunk chunke explaining that he did not have money to get drunk. Judge Maxfield dismissed this charge and gave biba a light sentence for vagrancy. He was arrested by John Dalton at the Chicago, Milwauhee and St. Paul station Saturday night.

Barney Hall, the former Harmony baseball promoter, found that going on a Saturday lishing expedition and trying to sleep off the effects in the Northwestern station was not in accordance to the law. On his plea of guilty he was given ten days.

All the men brought before court this morning were agreested on Saturday and no complaints were received or arrests made for drunkenness on Smiday.

Death Comes Suddenly to One of City's Older Residents---Was Governess to Thomas B. Reed.

Older Residents—Was Governess to Thomas B. Reed.

Mrs. John Schicker, for sixty years a resident of Janesville. a woman deeply revered and beloved, passed away suddenly at five-thirty o'clock Sunday morning at her home at the corner fo Prospect avenue and East street. Her passing was due to the infirmities of old age as she was in her eighty-fourth year. She had enjoyed her usual health for the past few weeke and complained for the first time upon arising early Sunday morning. She returned to her bed and it was only a few minutes later that the end came.

Mrs. Schicker was born in Lorraine, Germany, in 1831. Her father was a judge in one of the superior courts of the province and she received her education in the best schools of the land. Upon coming to America nearly sixty-five years ago, she was employed several years as governess to the late Thomas Brackett Reed, speaker of the house of representatives, and had the distinction of instructing him in French.

She came west with her hosband in the early sixties and located at Rockford, Ill., where Mr. Schicker opened a merchant tailor's establishment. At that time Rockford was a smaller city than Janesville and they decided to come here and locate as they foresaw a better opportunity for Mr. Schicker's business. They purchased the property which has been Mrs. Shicker's home until the day of her death. Endowed with beautiful qualities of character Mrs. Schicker was dearly loved and respected by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. She was a charter member of the St. Paul's German Lutheran church and in her younger years was a faithful worker in the church.

Her husband passed away fourteen years ago and five dauchters have also preceded her in death, She leaves two sons: O. F. Schicker, engineer on the C. M. and St. P. railroad, and John Schicker, who resides on Milton avenue. She also leaves four grand-children.

TWO STORES 221-23 W. Milw. St.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT Written and publication authorized by J. S. Smith and to be paid for by him at the rate of 35c per inch.

An Answer to "Real Facts About the Waterworks Question."

To the Public of Janesville:

In Saturday's issue of the Gazette there appeared an article head-'Real facts to consider in the water works matter," in which an attempt is made to show that instead of net surplus of twenty-three thousands dollars accrueing from last year's earnings had the plant been operated by the city, as stated by us in the leaflet to which this article refers, there would have been a loss of $3,612.50.

The writers of this article arrive at this startling conclusion from two directions; first, by assuming that the city will have to pay $300;-000 for the plant, and secondly, that the new rates will cut the income to $38,000.

. To substantiate their figures of the amount of the purchase price they say: "according to the figures made out by the city officials, while the suit in the supreme court was pending, they figured that It would cost the city $315,000 to actually consummate the nurchase of the plant." We do not know who those "city officials" are nor do we know what they said. Though charged of being "theorists," we base our figures and arguments upon official documents and not upon anybody's say so.

On page 635, "Opinion and Decision of the Commission," we find the following under the heading: "Revised Valuation of Physical

Land Wells, intakes and suctions Standpipe, reservoir and filters Distribution system (mains laid) Pumping plant equipment Buildings and miscellaneous structures Office fixtures and appliances Tools Miscellaneous Stoves and supplies Paving Add 12% for engineering, superintendence,	12,096 16,718 148,858 16,923 10,016 675 1,665 2,919 2,642 interest during construction, etc.	25,796

and again, on the same page:

'The company's construction work appears not to have involved any expense for paving, so this item should be eliminated in making up the final valuation. The valuation as of Jan. 1, 1910, then amounts to a cost new of $243,684 and an EXISTING value of $226,923."

Finally concluding on page 636 as follows: 'The summary given above includes the value new of meters, meter boxes, and unpaid meter accounts amounting to $1,209, and the folue on Jan. 1, 1910, to $739. Of this, $442, both of cost new and existing value, is made up of meters which were sold to consumers but had not been paid for by consumers on the date of the valuation. As all meters are to be considered separately from other items whose value is shown in the above summary, it will be fair to deduct from the results shown in the summary the value of all meters. The cost new, with such deductions, is $242,475, and the existing value to Jan. 1, 1910, was $226,184. During the year ending June 30, 1910 the report of the company shows that $1,015.37 was expended for new construction. How much of this was incurred between Jan. 1 and June 30, the report does not show, but it is probably fair to add one half of the extensions during the fiscal year to the physical value of Jan. 1, 1910, in making up valuation of June 30, 1910. This means that the cost new on June 30, 1910, was within a very few dollars of $243,000, and the existing value was very nearly $226,700."

From the above it will be seen that we stand on solid ground and not upon the say so of certain "city officials."

It is true that the company claims a much larger figure as representing the value of its property, but the commission replies as fol-

"The figures given in the preceding paragraph as the value of the physical property do not agree very closely with the investment reported by the utility, which is given in the report for the end of the fiscal year 1909-1910, as $437,049.26, "as per construction account" An examination of the books of the utility, however, hows that the "Stars value of $437,049.26 does not represent investment, but includes bond and stock issues.''

In other words, water.

Having now established the purchase price, let us take up the question of finances.

In the article under discussion appears this statement: "Under the most recent order of the railroad commission the receipts of the water plant, with the present consumption, would be as follows," and gives, as the total income, the amount of $38,668.91 as against $46,-106.57 under the present rate of 35 cents per thousand gallons, and which sum represents the actual earnings of the company during the year ending June 30, 1913.

Now, basing our figures upon the figures of the company's anreport, sworn to by its officers, we find that had the new rates been in force during the past year, and the meter measured water income based upon the same number of gallons as was used during last year, the gross earnings would be as follows:

Flat rates (practically no change) .$15,711.45
Meter rates, 122, 125,976 gals, at 71/2c per M. Gals, $ 9,159.45
To be paid by city . 16,938.35

It is with that that they are lot under the twelve months as $21,420.64. It is with that that they would tear our figures to shreds and crush us into the earth—but we refuse to stay crushed. While it is true that the operating expenses of the company amounted to $21,60.65 the past year, these figures include items that would be eliminated untion to that, $2,803.92 in taxes, or, a total of $9,083.93. When this amount is then deducted from the profits of the plant we will have left as net profits the sum of $19,446.57. And please bear in mind that THIS IS BASED UPON THE NEW RATES. Placed into a sinking fund this sum in 13 years will amount to $252,805.41. In the article the writers say, "On a basis of a value of about $300,000.00 only, the income under the old rates is only about 6 per cent." Now is it? Let us see.

us see. Quoting again the sworn statement of the Company we find that their dividends on $200,000 was at a rate of 14½ per cent amounting to $28,500, and besides, have paid five per cent on their funded debt of $186,500, the sum of $8,412.50

In other words, while they state that the income would hardly pay 6 per cent upon $300,000, they have actually paid a rate of over 91/2 per cent upon $386,500. $386,500.

In conclusion we will state that running a water plant by a city is not a new experiment nor will Janesville be an exception. Of the 180 cities of Wisconsin having water plants, 153 OWN AND OPERATE SUCH PLANTS and only 27 are operated by private companies.

was the perhaps the only fighter we have ever known who could tell every time he was going to hand his opponent the K. O. For some uncanny reason or other Fitz was always able to declare before the bout began whether or not he would win by the kayo route and he seldom, if ever, failed to deliver. He had never been able to explain this strange faculty and regarded it more as an instinct than anything else. But he had the greatest faith in these "hunches" and went into battle assured of the outcome before the fight had started.

The rumor regarding Christy Mathewson is interesting. If Matty should be made manager of the Cardinals to replace Miller Huggins, as has been suggested, it would seem that baseball interests in St. Louis would beom. The Cardinal owners who have sought to put this deal over—or have been reported to have done such—deserve hearty appliance short of christy Mathewson would never ger the proper rise out of the anathetings of St. Louis. Another thing, if Mathewson should make the change—though nany agree that it seems extremely unlikely—there will be contecture on both sides as to his fitness for a managerial job. He's a wonderful pitcher and a most brainy student of the game, but whether he has all the qualities that make a successful chief is still a question. However, the whole affair is as yet only rip the wind and thus far there is little cause for dismay. The ideal perhaps, had its birth in the fanciful cranium of a sport writer.

George Burns with the Tigers and George Burns of the Giants are neither kith nor kin. However, they both seem to be very caushle little will tossers. liere is a picture of the Pengeot which Jules Goux, winner of the last five hundred mile race on the indianapolis motor speedway, brought over to New York a few days ago for the next Hoosier classic. Many who are interested in automobile classics believe Goux will win the race again this year. The car has been considerably altered from last year, being fitted with a stream line body, undersluing springs. American mock absorbers and special English tires. In addition it has had its motor set further back and the left-hand frame member filled with lead, to give it added stability rounding turns.

THE WATER WORKS.
Tomorrow the voters of Janesville will east their ballots for or against the purchase of the Janesville worth but $227,000 and that this would be the purchase price. They have also seriously juggled other figures to substantiate their claims, that the location is the field, thousands and thousands and thousands are going likewise. The ordinance covers all vehicles.

Signs of the Times.

Al this talk of the next White House wedding seems like Mc Adoo about nothing.

so seriously juggled other figures to substantiate their claims that the plant could be made to pay for itself in a very short time.

This is, of course, all theoretical. The actual price, instead of the $227-000 they claim, would be nearer $315,000. The figures they announce would enable the city to pay for the plant out of its own profits, are based on the present rates, which approximately pay the investors seven per cent: but not on the lower tax rate, the rates that the railroad commission has ordered installed, which would cut down the profits to something like four per cent.

Even at that the figures are incorrect. They fail to show that out of Even at that the figures are incorrect. They fail to show that out of the sum they credit as profits, a portion of it was paid for salaries, improvements and interest, in fact over half of it went this way and that at the old rating at that. Under the new whether it is owned by a corporation of individuals or by a municipality. It has been intimated that if a new rate was made it would be higher if anything.

One fact not considered in the dis cussion thus far is the fact that if the city purchased the plant they would forced to purchase the outstand ing bonds, amounting to $186,500, paying as a premium one year's interest at five per cent, or $9,375. These bonds are held by individuals and would have to be retired. How is this to be paid for out of the profits as the theorist would tell you was possible?

Much attention has been given to the fact that the Water company fought the taking over of the plant, taking their case through the supreme court to substantiate their contention. This was done to settle definitely the status of the bond issue the city would have to make before purchasing the plant. It was of as much benefit to the city as to the Water company. If the city as to the water company. It the suit had not been brought, the city had issued bonds, they could not have sold them as they would have had no title. Hence the suit was as vital to the city as to the Water comthe fact the Water company sought to prevent the taking over of the plant.

Oshkosh voted to take over the water works and then forcibly did so Now they are paying something like ten and a half per cent on their bond issue, have six suits against the city pending, for which the taxpayers are paying all the costs, do not have a plear title to the water plant and the would appear that all is not clear sailing for the advocates of a peace-ful settlement of the Mexican trouble. Despite all the efforts of Secretary Bryan to bring about peace by induc-ing the representatives of other Latin-American countries to act as mediators, the A. B. C. system is not progressing. He was a pleasant man,

And so t hought a phonograph
On the installment plan.
Of course I didn't need it,
But when his terms I'd got,
It really seemed much cheaper
To buy the thing than not.

I met another stranger,
A man with charming voice,
He sold encyclopedias
And he was very choice.
He sold he sold them only
To parties prominent,
And so. of course, we took one,
We liked the compliment.

Another stranger reached us, He had lawnmowers to sell On easy-may installments, And of course we fell.

Twas that way, too, with wringers
Gas ranges, fancy clocks,
And with vacuum cleaners,
And shorts and pants and socks.
And so the thing continued,
In our installment greed
We bought wheel chairs and crutches
An junk we did not need.

The motion brought up by Prof. Sheafor Friday in the high school civics class senate, to disband the upper house, met with considerable opposition on the part of the senators. It was then moved and carried that the upper house remain in session for three days more, making it Thursday of this week as the probable day for abandonment.

The work transacted was routine, although a spirited discussion arose in regard to the income tax measure, introduced by Senator Hayes early last week. Hayes was strongly in favor of the measure, but was opposed bitterly by Hield and Laughlin both democrats. The bill was defeated, partly on the strength of Hield's opposing arguments.

The senate was called to order again this afternoon at three-fifteen by Vice President Karl Frick.

She had so much fun that she could not take the time to finish her high school course.

She became a little older and began to think of her future—not seriously and only occasionally.

Some wage-earning friends advised her to learn something that might serve her in the hour of adversity, should such an hour come.

They suggested stenography, but Eleanor would not give up her fun.

Adversity's cloud did hover by and by, and at thirty-five Eleanor is a blondined waitress.

Fortunately, for every Eleanor there are a dozen substantial Marys and Marthas who learn something at the time when learning is possible—something that will carry them over the hard places in life-something that will make them independent, self supporting, and economically free.

insist is a perfect likeness.

So we never can know what our persons look like, and more than that we never can know what our personalities are like to others.

Every man has three distinct personalities. First there is the personality he himself thinks he possesses.

Second, there is the personality others see; and this in turn is divided into innumerable personalities, for that same name stands for one personality to his wife, for another to his neighbor, for another to his business associates, for another to his enemies. Everyone who knows him on hearing his name gets a certain mental picture according to his own particular knowledge of its owner.

Third, there is the personality as it actually is,—in other words, the man whom the Infinite Knowledge sees.

And no man can know all these other personalities. Respecially is it impossible for him to know the personality his name calls up in the minds of other men and women. His personality as it actually is he may perhaps get a glimpse of by self study and analysis, for his own mind is accessible to him; but other men's minds are not and so he must forever be ignorant as to what his personality looks like to others.

It's a queer thought isn't it? You and I and everyone walking about the world presenting a certain person and a certain personality to all we meet, and uterly incapable of knowing what they see. We used to love to read about enchantments and spells in the fairy tales. Could any enchantment be stranger than this?

Since that time sixteen miles of trenches for riflemen, with as many miles more of approach and maneuvering trails, suitable for cavalry and mountain, even field, artillery, have been completed along the canal. Meanings of Itching Nose,

An itching of the nose in our grand mothers' days gave indication that a stranger would appear before many hours had passed. Dekker, an early writer, says: "We shall have guests today, my nose itcheth." An old English superstition was to the effect that if the nose itched it was a sign that the person would be vexed or kissed a fool before the day was ended. With the Germans it was a sign that one would drink wine with a friend.

FOR MOTHER'S LOVE
THE GIVING MATERIAL THINGS
BUT BY LIVES WORTHY OF HER AFFECTION.

Hazen emphasized, "His thought was not of Himself. He did not cry out to be taken down, or to be relieved or assuaged in any way. He looked down, racked by all this suffering, and saw His mother standing there by the side of the disciple that He loved best. And to that disciple He said simply, 'Behold thy mother.' And the gospel tells us that from that hour that disciple took her into his own home.

HIGH SCHOOL CLUBS IN WEEKLY SESSION

Newly Organized Societies Enjoyed Good Programs at Meetings

Both of the newly organized literary societies at the high school held their regular meetings Friday afternoon. The programs in both societies were well given and very interesting to the students present. A program consisting of German sones and essays was given in the girls club, while in the boys meeting a Gebate on a current subject and an extemporaneous topic interested those present. Following are the programs:

NO CLAMS LEFT IN RIVER NEAR CITY

Clammers Move Further Down River Toward Rockford, Finding River Thoroughly Cleaned of Profits.

River Thoroughly Cleaned

of Profits.

Clammers, who have attempted to establish camps between Janesville and Afton, on Rock river, have found little reward for their efforts, as last year's army of clammers had cleaned the river of profits, as one of the men expressed it. At Afton there were eight camps, but norin, toward Janesville, only two men have camped and they declare that it would not pay to work through the season and pay the fifty dollar license required.

Last year nearly two hundred followers of the trade lined the shores and too's many tons of clams from the river. The low water here made the process of getting the shells easy, and al hough very few pearls were found, each camp took from twenty to thirty-five tons of shells, selling them at from twelve to twenty dollars and even higher per ton. Such an enormous amount of clams were taken last year and the river bed worked so thoroughly, there was little left for this year's vanguard.

At Afton, where the water is deeper, the clammers have had better luck, finding a few slugs and pearls. The majority of the clammers who worked at Janesville in 1913 are clamming near Rockford this year. At this point of the river the clams are numerous and more pearls and slugs are found. The Illinois fish commission recently ordered no clamming until after the spawning season in July, the claim of the commission being that early season clamming practically exterminates the bivalves. No prosecutions have followed the clammers' failing to obey this order, and it is understood the matter has been dropped.

Experts in the trade declared that it will be at least four or five years Experts in the trade declared that it will be at least four or five years before clamming would be profitable in the river near Janesville, so thor-oughly had the stream been worked during recent years.

FARMERS MUST RID HERDS OF LOAFERS

vestock Experts With Agricultural College Exhibit Will Explain

Livestock Experts With Agricultural College Exhibit Will Explain

How it Can Be Done.

The datry farmer cannot afford to spend the returns from his farm and herd in running a "free lunch" stand for boarder cows.

It is easy enough to tell which are the absolutely worthless cows and get rid of them, but it's those innocent looking loafers which give just enough milk to keep up appearances and sneak along for two or three years without being found out, that cause the big leak in the dairyman's profits.

How can Wisconsin dairymen stop these leaks?

Can we improve the production of our cows, increase the value of our stock, and build up our herds? These are the questions which have been satisfactorily answered by many of Wisconsin's successful dairymen. Their methods will be described and representatives of their types of cows will be carried on the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' Association Special" which will tour the Northwestern and Green Bay and Western lines in northern and northeastern Wisconsin between May 25 and June 14.

The demonstrations will be given at each stop by such well known dairymen as George C. Humphrey of the College of Agriculture; Charles L. Hill. president of the American Guernsey Cattle club, W. J. Gillelte, president of the Wisconsin Holstein Breeders' association; Fred Scribner of the United States dairy division, and S. A. Baird, president of the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association.

Dairving, however, will be only one of the obases of livestock farm-clair, who never had seen his father-in-law.

Sinclair told his brother-in-law.
Earl Powers, of the application and suggested that the signor might be Powers' father. A visit to the older Powers' home confirmed this helief.

Then came a surprise. Sinclair brought his wife to see her father and with her were four children. It was Powers' first intination that he was a grandfather. Recovering from this surprise he learned that the son also had a family of three children. As a result of the meeting a family reunion was held at the home of three children. As a result of the meeting a family reunion was held at the home of the son. Both Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Powers have married since their separation.
